GERMAN NATION MAY DISCIPLINE SAXONY

MILITARY HEAD TO DISSOLVE THE RED HUNDRED COMPANIES

GERMAN POLICE TO USE DRASTIC MEASURES AGAINST RIOTERS

GOVERNMENT AIMS TO ESTABLISH A STABLE CURRENCY IN THE NATION

(By United Press)
Berlin, Oct. 17.—The German federal government is pledged to drastic action against Saxony unless conditions there show an immediate improvement, it was learned today.

The military dictator already has been ordered to proceed with dissolution of the so-called "Red Hundred Companies."

It was indicated he will use soldiers if necessary.

Police officials were ordered to use drastic measures against rioters in case of a repetition of yesterday's demonstrations and attempts at defiance of the preservation of the limited state of siege.

Arrests of some of the ring leaders in yesterday's demonstration are proceeding and authorities ordered police today to arrest women and girls if they lead the way to riots.

City authorities must preserve order by force, it was directed, if they are unable to prevent disturbances by providing bread.

"Vorwaerts," commenting on the new directions, said that the government is sharp in dealing with Saxony, but pointed out that hitherto it has taken no steps against illegal organizations in Bavaria or against the general Bavarian defiance of the Reich.

Government reports from the occupied areas indicated many places were almost without potatoes. Such supplies as exist, it was reported, were prohibitively priced at $10 a "centnar."

New food riots are expected in many places, it was said today, because the unemployment doles, though recently doubled, amount to barely 2 cents a day.

With the average pay of fully employed workers now barely equal to the cost of from eight to ten loaves of black bread a week, city authorities planned to put foodstuffs on the market at fixed prices at current rates.

After yesterday's food riots in the heart of Berlin revealed the imminent menace of hunger to the country, city officials announced the sale of American and Argentine frozen meat at less than current prices.

Even with money, purchases of potatoes, meat, butter, lard and eggs were made with greatest difficulty.

The government's attempt to establish a stable currency which would give confidence to traders in the country as well as facilitate purchase outside has become a race against the danger of starvation in Berlin.

The government has decided, it became known, to commence immediately to build up a government grain reserve of from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 tons.

1 KILLED IN RIOT AT MANNHEIM

Mannheim, Germany, Oct. 17.—One man was killed and several injured in severe rioting between police and demonstrators here last night.

Police fired on demonstrators when they refused to obey an order to disperse.

Patrols passed through the streets today forbidding all gatherings.

Maine Defeats Law to Cut Women's Work

Portland, Me., Oct. 17.—Defeat of the proposed law to reduce the maximum working week for women and minors from 54 to 48 hours by a margin of 15,000 votes was indicated with returns from the rural districts slowly coming in.

Major Charles Williams Inspects Lake Levels

NEW MUNICH DETOUR TO THE BREWERY IS CLOSED BY AGENTS

Minneapolis, Oct. 17.—There will be no further use for the detour to New Munich from the Minneapolis-Little Falls road.

Northwest prohibition agents this morning made this prediction. They yesterday raided the August Pitzel brewery there and locked up 1,800 bottles of beer found in the pasteurizer and 40 cases found in the basement.

They say the beer tested 4.95 per cent alcohol. No arrests were made, pending word from Washington officials. Prohibition agents say many tourists took the detour to visit the brewery.

SHERIFF NIPS CULT PLOT TO BURN TOWN

MOVE "PUNISHMENT FOR ITS WICKEDNESS"—8 ALLEGED FANATICS HELD

Kimball, Neb., Oct. 17.—Eight alleged religious fanatics, who tried to set a Biblical example by destroying this town by fire "as a punishment for its wickedness," are in jail.

Sheriff Swanson heard of their plans Sunday and went to the home of Tom Garon, alleged leader of the cult, where the eight men had barricaded themselves.

Sheriff Swanson sent to Cheyenne, Wyo., for reinforcements and tear gas bombs to dislodge the men, but all were arrested when they attempted to steal away from the house under cover of darkness.

The men will be placed under observation, Swanson said.

Surgeon Flies to Treat Trotsky For Cancer

London, Oct. 17.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Munich says Dr. Ferdinand Sauerbruch, noted surgeon, has left for Moscow in an airplane to attend Leon Trotsky, war minister of soviet Russia, "who is suffering from cancer of the stomach."

QUARTER MILLION IN STOCKS STOLEN

ROBBERS LOOTED FAMILY BANK OF RICH CHICAGO ESTATE

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Stocks and bonds valued at $250,000, the estate of Louis Erhardt, Board of Trade operator, formed part of the loot of burglars who robbed the Werner Brothers warehouse here Sunday, police were informed today.

Mrs. Lydia Erhardt, widow of the trader, told police that all securities placed by her in the family safe in the warehouse were missing. Dozens of safety boxes were burned open with acetylene torches. Total loot is estimated at $350,000.

Discoverer of Insulin Has New Surprise for World, Physicians Told

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 17.—Dr. F. G. Banting, discover of insulin, will within the next few weeks announce another discovery of even greater importance than the diabetes cure.

Dr. Forbes Godfrey, minister of public health for the province of Ontario made the announcement of the new discovery at a dinner given to medical men here.

"Dr. Banting is a real genius," said the speaker. "He has now something better than insulin to offer the world. It is a marvelous thing but I am not at liberty to make further mention of it. Dr. Banting has about completed experiments on his new discovery and public announcement will be made very soon."

FOREST FIRES ROLL UP $3,000,000 TO $4,000,000 LOSS

STANDING TIMBER, LUMBER CAMPS AND EQUIPMENT DESTROYED

NOT A GREEN TREE CAN BE SEEN WITHIN A RADIUS OF TEN MILES OF ONTONAGON

(By United Press)
Calumet, Mich., Oct. 17.—Property loss amounting to between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 was estimated today as forest fires were sufficiently subdued by drenching rains to permit a survey of the upper peninsula. It was the first rainfall in a month.

Standing timber, lumber camps and equipment throughout Ontonagon county has been destroyed and losses estimated today are believed conservative. An area upwards of 150 square miles has been swept.

Not a green tree can be seen within a radius of 10 miles of Ontonagon, and the territory from Lake Gogebic east to White Pine is practically bare.

Winds ignited the woods here and there in other directions. Between Baraga and Rockland leaf fires apparently are spreading to cutover lands and into growing timber.

Heaviest losers were the Greenland Lumber company, $100,000; Corwin & Anderson, $40,000; John Hawley, $50,000; Sawyer-Goodman company, $70,000; Thompson-Wells $40,000. These figures do not include standing timber, farms or homesteads which dotted the entire area.

Telephone lines from Ontonagon to Iron River over 20 miles in length are down and may never be rebuilt.

5 Dead at Big Bay, Michigan

At Big Bay, Michigan, a lighted cigarette dropped in the road was responsible for the loss of five lives, all employees of the Independence Lumber company. The dead are Sam Klemens, 52; Simon Valeski, 50; John West, 38; August Dauder, 32, and Ben Suski, 20. The men died within a few rods of the railroad spur ingress which would have taken them to safety.

The fire is considered the most disastrous in the history of upper Michigan.

Life Span 10 Years Longer, Says Vincent

Detroit, Oct. 17.—Ten years added to the average of expectancy of human life in the last 20 years and the cutting of the infant mortality rate in half, is credited chiefly to specific public health activities, Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller foundation of New York city and former president of the University of Minnesota, said in an address before the American Child Health association.

The work at first was carried on, the speaker said, by government agencies and by numerous unofficial organizations which have been organized. At times, Dr. Vincent said, there has been overlapping or neglect of certain fields and workers sometimes have been amateurish, untrained and inexperienced, but these defects are being remedied steadily.

The American Child Health association, not satisfied with existing knowledge, proposes to press on scientific investigation, problems of nutrition, growth, weight and height; questions of dental and other defects said Dr. Vincent.

St. Paul, Oct. 17.—Not one of 101 applicants for pardons will be freed.

This was the decision of the State Pardon Board announced today after completing an investigation of the cases. A few of the cases were taken under advisement and will be referred to the parole board.

MARGARET LLOYD GEORGE TAKES CHARGE OF TOUR

(By United Press)
Chicago, Oct. 17.—Dame Margaret Lloyd George today took charge of her distinguished husband's American expedition. Upon her decision was to rest the program for the remainder of Lloyd George's stay in Chicago and for the schedule to be followed for the remainder of the American tour.

The reason was that Lloyd George was, in a thoroughly American way, "all in" last night. After a strenuous day at Mooseheart, Ill., and Chicago, he had a temperature and was forced to cancel two engagements—attendance at a Welsh Choral society performance in his honor and dinner with "Hell and Maria" Dawes. He went to bed to rest. It was not considered necessary to call in physicians, and indications were that Lloyd George would be able to go through with his formal speech here tonight, the main event of his visit to Chicago. But Dame Lloyd George, who watches closely her husband's health, will not permit him to keep too many engagements that will unduly test his strength.

DOCTOR RESTRICTS HIS CALENDAR

Chicago, Oct. 17.—"Imperative orders" have been issued by David Lloyd George's personal physician for rigid restriction of the famous Briton's social engagements for the remainder of his American trip, Sir William Southerland, private secretary to Lloyd George, announced today.

Southerland's announcement said that Lloyd George is suffering with a cold, complicated by fatigue, and for this reason when the physician found the former premier with a temperature he ordered him to stay in bed this afternoon and curtail all social engagements.

Lloyd George, however, will deliver his scheduled address here tonight. Word will be sent out to other cities on the tour that luncheons, receptions and other social functions must be cancelled, Southerland said. Due to the cold Lloyd George tires easily, Southerland said, and it was decided to cancel all except speaking engagements in order to conserve his strength.

FLOOD WATERS NOW THREATEN SMALLER TOWNS DOWN RIVER

NORTH CANADIAN RIVER DOES $3,000,000 DAMAGE AT OKLAHOMA CITY

TOLL OF TWO LIVES TAKEN, 15,000 DRIVEN FROM HOMES RETURN TODAY

(By United Press)
Oklahoma City, Oct. 17.—Flood waters of the North Canadian river which took a toll of two lives and caused $3,000,000 damage in Oklahoma City swept down stream today, threatening smaller cities.

The overflow here receded today, and 15,000 persons driven from their lowland homes when the city reservoir broke were able to return to their homes.

About 6,000 were still being cared for in schools and churches and other public places.

Unable to obtain meat from Packerstown, which was cut off by the flood, arrangements were being made to rush supplies here from Kansas City, St. Joseph and Omaha.

ST. ANTHONY FALLS POWER RIGHTS NOW IN NEW OWNERSHIP

PURCHASED BY THE NORTHERN STATES POWER COMPANY

LARGE HYDRO-ELECTRIC PLANT IS CONTEMPLATED SOON

Minneapolis, Oct. 17.—Ownership of all St. Anthony Falls power rights today passed into the hands of the Northern States Power company.

Since 1880 the power rights have been in the hands of an English concern, the Pillsbury-Washburn company, limited, London. This firm also controlled the Pillsbury flour mills which were taken over today by a Minneapolis corporation.

Development of St. Anthony Falls was largely responsible for the existence of Minneapolis, now the metropolis of the northwest. Around the falls is grouped the world's greatest flour mills.

The St. Anthony Falls Water Power company obtained first right in 1856, before Minnesota became a state. The Minneapolis Milling company, organized ten years later, secured west shore rights in 1870. Controlling stock of the St. Anthony company went to James J. Hill, pioneer railroad builder, in 1880. Control of both companies went to the English corporation.

The Northern States Power company will operate the development beginning in about 30 days. Total horsepower of the falls is 57,000, of which the Minneapolis Street Railway company uses 22,000 on a lease which expires in 1937. The remainder of the water power is used mechanically by the flour mills locally and without being converted into electricity.

The mill leases are owned in perpetuity.

The Northern States Power company intends eventually to unify all the power of the falls into a large hydro-electric plant which will be the largest in this section of the country, according to R. F. Pack, vice-president of the power company.

This cannot be accomplished for a number of years because of existing leases. When it is accomplished, mechanical leases will be converted into electric power leases.

The total fall of water at the falls is 65 feet.

The Pillsbury Flour Mills company which took ownership of the flour mills from the English corporation today, is a Minneapolis concern.

WHITE SOX WIN THE CITY SERIES

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The White Sox again are Chicago city champions, beating the National league Cubs, 4 to 3 in 10 innings yesterday. The Americans won the series, four games to two. Two fumbles and a wild throw by George Grantham gave the Sox the championship. The first fumble came in the ninth in which the Sox scored twice and knotted the count, while the second fumble and a wild peg came in the tenth and allowed the Sox' winning run to be scored.

It was the eighth city championship the Sox have won from the Cubs who earned the title three times. The National leaguers won their last title last year, the first time in 13 years.

The finish came in the 10th with two out. Collins walked to open the inning and Sheeley sacrificed. Falk fled out but Kamm drew a base on balls. Then McClellan sent a fast hopping grounder to Grantham who fumbled it and then threw low to first base and Collins dashed home with the run that won the series.

Score—R. H. E. Cubs . . . . . 000 101 0010—3 9 6 White Sox . . . . . 000 000 1021—4 9 0

Batteries—Kaufmann and O'Farrell; Lyons, Leverette, Faber and Schalk, Crouse.

WOMEN DECLARED TOO SYMPATHETIC TO SIT BEHIND "KICK DESK"

Atlantic City, Oct. 17.—A woman has no place at the "kick desk" of a gas company because she is too sympathetic to make a good fixer.

This was the burden of a report the American Gas association received today from a committee. The committee advocated the gradual elimination of all women clerks from complaint adjustment departments of gas companies.

SMUTS PROJECT FOR GERMAN AID WAITED

A FINANCIAL RECONSTRUCTION SIMILAR TO AUSTRIA'S TO BE RECOMMENDED, EXPECTED

London, Oct. 17.—It is asserted here the plan to be submitted to the imperial conference by General Smuts of South Africa for the rehabilitation of Germany and the restoration of tranquility in Europe will include two main features:

The financial reconstruction of Germany on lines not very dissimilar to those followed in the case of Austria under theegis of the League of Nations' standing committee on finance.

The establishment, presumably under a guaranty of the League of Nations, of a demilitarized zone in the Rhineland without interfering with the Rhineland's present political allegiance or its administrative links with the rest of Germany.

Although formal debate on the foreign policy is not scheduled to come up until the final week of the conference, discussion as to the best method of participating in the reparations problem will be inaugurated in committee at an early date.

Imperial defense was the only subject discussed by the imperial conference here yesterday. The opening speech by Marquis Salisbury, who is chairman of the national defense committee, lasted more than two hours, but at the conclusion it was decided that in view of the nature of the subjects not to make it public.

16 CO-RESPONDENTS NAMED IN CASE

New York, Oct. 17.—Clinging steadfastly to her previous testimony given under direct examination, Mrs. Anna Francese, thirteenth witness in the W. E. D. Stokes divorce trial, was cross-examined when court reconvened today by Charles E. Erbstein of Chicago, counsel for Mrs. Stokes, who made his first active appearance in the case.

Mrs. Francese worked in the apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, named as one of the 16 co-respondents in the case. On several occasions the maid testified she saw Mrs. Stokes on the stairway approaching Wallace's apartment.

CLAIMS SHE MADE NO SUCH AFFIDAVIT

New York, Oct. 17.—"I made no such affidavit."

Mrs. Anna Francese, witness in the W. E. D. Stokes divorce trial, thus repudiated today a sworn statement purported to have been made by her with regard to alleged visits of Mrs. Stokes to the apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, co-respondent.

Mrs. Francese had been called by the millionaire plaintiff and had insisted that she knew Mrs. Stokes by sight and had often seen her on the stairs leading to Wallace's apartment in New York.

Then her attention was called to the affidavit—which has not been read to the jury.

The witness thereupon flatly denied ever having made such an affidavit during that year, October, 1921. The witness also said that she also saw in Wallace's apartment photos of Mrs. Stokes on his dresser and also in his wallet.

LEON E. LUM WAS CHAIRMAN OF THE MEETING SUNDAY

HELD AT THE OFFICE OF THE CARETAKER, A. L. MAMPLE, AT GULL LAKE

25 LOCAL CITIZENS, DEEPLY INTERESTED IN SITUATION, WERE PRESENT

Lake levels, past, present and future, were discussed at a meeting of interested citizens, held at the office of A. L. Mample, caretaker of the Gull lake dam, on Sunday afternoon, when representatives of the war department were present to gain first hand information on the situation. Notice of the meeting had been given at the last Rotary club luncheon held.

A. M. Opsahl who has had considerable correspondence with the St. Paul office of the War Department, was instrumental in bringing the officials to Brainerd. In the party were Major Charles Williams, district engineer of the War Department, his chief clerk, J. M. Wade, and Engineer I. E. Clearman.

This party motored directly from St. Paul to the Gull lake dam, and were met there by about twenty-five local citizens. A very interesting and instructive meeting followed.

Leon E. Lum, of Duluth, who has a summer home on Gull lake, was present and acted as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Lum has been working on the water level proposition for years, and much credit is due him for his untiring efforts along this line. He brought to the meeting many blue prints, maps and correspondence from the War Department, so that he was well equipped to take up the matter with the St. Paul officials.

Major Williams explained the present and past water levels at Gull lake. The records show that in three different years since the dam was constructed, the level of Gull lake has been considerably lower than it now is. For example, in the year 1910 the lake was one foot and three inches lower than it is at present.

Local people had hoped that the amount of flowage over the dam could be decreased, thereby maintaining a high level in the lake, but the St. Paul officials explained that experiments a few years ago brought out the fact that the amount of flowage necessary to maintain fish life below the dam is 40 cubic feet per second. This is a large amount when figured for the entire season, and is bound to lower the lake level considerably, especially in dry years.

Major Williams promised those present at Sunday's meeting that if the sanction of the state game and fish commission could be secured for a lesser flowage over the dam, which will still maintain fish life, the War Department would certainly be willing to order the reduction.

J. F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner, has been written in this regard, in the hope that either he will come or send one of his men to investigate and inspect the present flowage, so that the proper recommendation can be made to the War Department, and a lesser flowage ordered than in years past. It is said that in the opinion of some connected with the game and fish commission half the present flowage would be sufficient to maintain the fish life below the dam, which is now a fish reserve and may be made a state fish hatchery.

GERMAN NATION MAY DISCIPLINE SAXONY

MILITARY HEAD TO DISSOLVE THE RED HUNDRED COMPANIES

GERMAN POLICE TO USE DRASTIC MEASURES AGAINST RIOTERS

GOVERNMENT AIMS TO ESTABLISH A STABLE CURRENCY IN THE NATION

(By United Press)
Berlin, Oct. 17.—The German federal government is pledged to drastic action against Saxony unless conditions there show an immediate improvement, it was learned today.

The military dictator already has been ordered to proceed with dissolution of the so-called "Red Hundred Companies."

It was indicated he will use soldiers if necessary.

Police officials were ordered to use drastic measures against rioters in case of a repetition of yesterday's demonstrations and attempts at defiance of the preservation of the limited state of siege.

Arrests of some of the ring leaders in yesterday's demonstration are proceeding and authorities ordered police today to arrest women and girls if they lead the way to riots.

City authorities must preserve order by force, it was directed, if they are unable to prevent disturbances by providing bread.

"Vorwarts," commenting on the new directions, said that the government is sharp in dealing with Saxony, but pointed out that hitherto it has taken no steps against illegal organizations in Bavaria or against the general Bavarian defiance of the Reich.

Government reports from the occupied areas indicated many places were almost without potatoes. Such supplies as exist, it was reported, were prohibitively priced at $10 a "centnar."

New food riots are expected in many places, it was said today, because the unemployment doles, though recently doubled, amount to barely 2 cents a day.

With the average pay of fully employed workers now barely equal to the cost of from eight to ten loaves of black bread a week, city authorities planned to put foodstuffs on the market at fixed prices at current rates.

After yesterday's food riots in the heart of Berlin revealed the imminent menace of hunger to the country, city officials announced the sale of American and Argentine frozen meat at less than current prices.

Even with money, purchases of potatoes, meat, butter, lard and eggs were made with greatest difficulty.

The government's attempt to establish a stable currency which would give confidence to traders in the country as well as facilitate purchase outside has become a race against the danger of starvation in Berlin.

The government has decided, it became known, to commence immediately to build up a government grain reserve of from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 tons.

1 KILLED IN RIOT AT MANNHEIM

Major Charles Williams Inspects Lake Levels

NEW MUNICH DETOUR TO THE BREWERY IS CLOSED BY AGENTS

Minneapolis, Oct. 17.—There will be no further use for the detour to New Munich from the Minneapolis-Little Falls road.

Northwest prohibition agents this morning made this prediction. They yesterday raided the August Pitzel brewery there and locked up 1,800 bottles of beer found in the pasteurizer and 40 cases found in the basement.

They say the beer tested 4.95 per cent alcohol. No arrests were made, pending word from Washington officials. Prohibition agents say many tourists took the detour to visit the brewery.

SHERIFF NIPS CULT PLOT TO BURN TOWN

Sheriff Swanson heard of their plans Sunday and went to the home of Tom Garon, alleged leader of the cult, where the eight men had barricaded themselves.

The Northern States Power company will operate the development beginning in about 30 days. Total horsepower of the falls is 57,000, of which the Minneapolis Street Railway company uses 22,000 on a lease which expires in 1937. The remainder of the water power is used mechanically by the flour mills locally and without being converted into electricity.

The mill leases are owned in perpetuity. The Northern States Power company intends eventually to unify all the power of the falls into a large hydro-electric plant which will be the largest in this section of the country, according to R. F. Pack, vice-president of the power company.

This cannot be accomplished for a number of years because of existing leases. When it is accomplished, mechanical leases will be converted into electric power leases.

The total fall of water at the falls is 65 feet.

The Pillsbury Flour Mills company which took ownership of the flour mills from the English corporation today, is a Minneapolis concern.

WHITE SOX WIN THE CITY SERIES

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The White Sox again are Chicago city champions, beating the National League Cubs, 4 to 3 in 10 innings yesterday. The Americans won the series, four games to two. Two fumbles and a wild throw by George Grantham gave the Sox the championship. The first fumble came in the ninth in which the Sox scored twice and knotted the count, while the second fumble and a wild peg came in the tenth and allowed the Sox' winning run to be scored.

It was the eighth city championship the Sox have won from the Cubs who earned the title three times. The National League won their last title last year, the first time in 13 years.

The finish came in the 10th with two out. Collins walked to open the inning and Sheeley sacrificed. Falk flied out but Kamm drew a base on balls. Then McClellan sent a fast hopping grounder to Grantham who fumbled it and then threw low to first base and Collins dashed home with the run that won the series.

Score—
Cubs ..... 000 101 0010—3 9 6
White Sox ..... 000 000 1021—4 9 0
Batteries—Kaufmann and O'Farrell; Lyons, Leverette, Faber and Schalk, Crouse.

WOMEN DECLARED TOO SYMPATHETIC TO SIT BEHIND "KICK DESK"

Atlantic City, Oct. 17.—A woman has no place at the "kick desk" of a gas company because she is too sympathetic to make a good fixer.

This was the burden of a report the American Gas association received today from a committee. The committee advocated the gradual elimination of all women clerks from complaint adjustment departments of gas companies.

SMUTS PROJECT FOR GERMAN AID WAITED

A FINANCIAL RECONSTRUCTION SIMILAR TO AUSTRIA'S TO BE RECOMMENDED, EXPECTED

London, Oct. 17.—It is asserted here the plan to be submitted to the imperial conference by General Smuts of South Africa for the rehabilitation of Germany and the restoration of tranquility in Europe will include two main features:

The financial reconstruction of Germany on lines not very dissimilar to those followed in the case of Austria under theegis of the League of Nations' standing committee on finance.

The establishment, presumably under a guaranty of the League of Nations, of a demilitarized zone in the Rhineland without interfering with the Rhineland's present political allegiance or its administrative links with the rest of Germany.

Although formal debate on the foreign policy is not scheduled to come up until the final week of the conference, discussion as to the best method of participating in the reparations problem will be inaugurated in committee at an early date.

Imperial defense was the only subject discussed by the imperial conference here yesterday. The opening speech by Marquis Salisbury, who is chairman of the national defense committee, lasted more than two hours, but at the conclusion it was decided that in view of the nature of the subjects not to make it public.

16 CO-RESPONDENTS NAMED IN CASE

New York, Oct. 17.—Clinging steadfastly to her previous testimony given under direct examination, Mrs. Anna Francese, thirteenth witness in the W. E. D. Stokes divorce trial, was cross-examined when court reconvened today by Charles E. Erbsstein of Chicago, counsel for Mrs. Stokes, who made his first active appearance in the case.

Mrs. Francese worked in the apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, named as one of the 16 co-respondents in the case. On several occasions the maid testified she saw Mrs. Stokes on the stairway approaching Wallace's apartment.

CLAIMS SHE MADE NO SUCH AFFIDAVIT

New York, Oct. 17.—"I made no such affidavit."

Mrs. Anna Francese, witness in the W. E. D. Stokes divorce trial, thus repudiated today a sworn statement purported to have been made by her with regard to alleged visits of Mrs. Stokes to the apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, co-respondent.

Mrs. Francese had been called by the millionaire plaintiff and had insisted that she knew Mrs. Stokes by sight and had often seen her on the stairs leading to Wallace's apartment in New York.

Then her attention was called to the affidavit—which has not been read to the jury.

The witness thereupon flatly denied ever having made such an affidavit during that year, October, 1921. The witness also said that she also saw in Wallace's apartment photos of Mrs. Stokes on his dresser and also in his wallet.

LEON E. LUM WAS CHAIRMAN OF THE MEETING SUNDAY

25 LOCAL CITIZENS, DEEPLY INTERESTED IN SITUATION, WERE PRESENT

Lake levels, past, present and future, were discussed at a meeting of interested citizens, held at the office of A. L. Mample, caretaker of the Gull lake dam, on Sunday afternoon, when representatives of the war department were present to gain first hand information on the situation. Notice of the meeting had been given at the last Rotary club luncheon held.

A. M. Opsahl who has had considerable correspondence with the St. Paul office of the War Department, was instrumental in bringing the officials to Brainerd. In the party were Major Charles Williams, district engineer of the War Department, his chief clerk, J. M. Wade, and Engineer I. E. Clearman.

This party motored directly from St. Paul to the Gull lake dam, and were met there by about twenty-five local citizens. A very interesting and instructive meeting followed.

Leon E. Lum, of Duluth, who has a summer home on Gull lake, was present and acted as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Lum has been working on the water level proposition for years, and much credit is due him for his untiring efforts along this line. He brought to the meeting many blue prints, maps and correspondence from the War Department, so that he was well equipped to take up the matter with the St. Paul officials.

Major Williams explained the present and past water levels at Gull lake. The records show that in three different years since the dam was constructed, the level of Gull lake has been considerably lower than it now is. For example, in the year 1910 the lake was one foot and three inches lower than it is at present.

Local people had hoped that the amount of flowage over the dam could be decreased, thereby maintaining a high level in the lake, but the St. Paul officials explained that experiments a few years ago brought out the fact that the amount of flowage necessary to maintain fish life below the dam is 40 cubic feet per second. This is a large amount when figured for the entire season, and is bound to lower the lake level considerably, especially in dry years.

Major Williams promised those present at Sunday's meeting that if the sanction of the state game and fish commission could be secured for a lesser flowage over the dam, which will still maintain fish life, the War Department would certainly be willing to order the reduction.

J. F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner, has been written in this regard, in the hope that either he will come or send one of his men to investigate and inspect the present flowage, so that the proper recommendation can be made to the War Department, and a lesser flowage ordered than in years past. It is said that in the opinion of some connected with the game and fish commission half the present flowage would be sufficient to maintain the fish life below the dam, which is now a fish reserve and may be made a state fish hatchery.

HODGE-MOBERG

Miss Alice Moberg, Formerly of Brainerd, Married in the West

(From Mt. Vernon, Wash., Herald)
A fall wedding, lovely with its setting of brown and red autumn foliage and rendered more impressive under the light of gleaming tapers, took place at eight o'clock Saturday night, when Miss Alice Moberg, daughter of Mrs. Andrew E. Moberg, became the bride of Walter H. Hodge, the ceremony being the first wedding to be solemnized in the new Presbyterian church.

Baskets and jardinières of fall flowers decorated the chancel while autumn leaves formed a carpet for the entire front of the church. Panels of lattice work, covered with trailing vines and bright-hued autumn leaves, made an effective background for the wedding party. The wall pockets to the pews were filled with choice bouquets in the fall colors.

Preceding the service, Mrs. Thornton D'Arc sang, Mrs. Ernest Packard Jones playing a violin obligato, while Mrs. Robin V. Welts was pianist.

The ushers, Lawrence Stewart, F. W. Perry, Clarence L. Murday and Paul Hodge, with the groom, attended by his twin brother as best man, walked down the aisle and took their places at the altar where Rev. A. W. Wilson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, awaited them.

Miss Mary O'Leary, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids followed the ushers. Miss O'Leary was becomingly gowned in old rose satin, made in long straight lines. The bridesmaids all wore georgette, made in the present style of long waist effect, with hip hoop skirts. They wore silver slippers and carried colonial bouquets of Ophelia roses and small asters.

Miss Eleanor Costello wore nil green, Miss Margaret Stewart's gown was of shell pink, Miss Helen McCormick's frock was in a brighter shade of pink, and Miss Teresa Wells wore an orchid-colored gown. Miss Ellis Henry's costume in apricot blended, as did all the bridesmaids' gowns, with the color scheme for the wedding party.

Little Barbara Welts, the tiny flower girl, looked charming in her dress of pale green georgette, with rosebuds in her hair and carrying a basket of rose petals. Barbara's dress was made ankle length.

The bride, entering with her brother, Almer Moberg, was lovely in an exquisite gown of white crepe backed satin, edged with pearl trimming. Her long veil was caught to her coiffure with orange blossoms. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses. During the reading of the service, Mrs. Welts played softly on the piano accompanied by Mrs. Jones with the violin. Immediately after the service, the church was flooded with light as the wedding party left the altar.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodge waited in the reception hall to greet their guests and receive congratulations, before returning to the home of the bride where a reception was held for the relatives and wedding party.

Here the same color motif was developed with fall flowers and candleabra. Mrs. Clarence L. Murday, Miss Ruth Straight and Miss Mabel Olson assisted in serving.

While some of the party were being served, others wandered next door where a beautiful new bungalow has been built and fitted up for the home of the young couple, and where they will begin housekeeping upon their return from their honeymoon.

Miss Moberg has lived practically all her life in this city where her talent as a violinist has made her greatly sought and where she counts as friends all who know her.

Walter Hodge, deputy prosecuting attorney, has become widely known during his few years' residence here and is looked upon as one of the bright young men of the community. The good wishes of scores of friends will be extended to the young couple upon their return.

A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Brainerd people. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. J. R. Mutch, 618 5th St., S., Brainerd, says: "There was hardly a spot in my body that wasn't sore. When I stooped, I got severe pains in my kidneys. I couldn't stand very long as I became tired and worn out. I had a steady, dull bearing down feeling in my kidneys and felt as though I had weights tied about them. I got little rest at night and mornings my back was sore and stiff it seemed it would break if I stooped."

A SHADOW ON A GREAT MAN'S FACE

WHILE Lloyd George was in Minneapolis he was surrounded by newspaper writers who asked him many questions and put forward many suggestions. One of these was: "Much water has gone over the mill since you last met Mr. Wilson." The great war-premier of Britain sighed. "Yes," he said, "much water—and some blood."

"Much water—and some blood." Time has been marching on and on time's battle ground men have gone down to death in blood after the conclusion of a war that promised to make the world safe for democracy. One who has followed the chequered history of Lloyd George will not fail to appreciate the significance of that sigh. He was a democrat. Time was when he was hated by the conservative elements of British society more bitterly than the leaders of the labor party in parliament are hated today. Once he was the incarnation of the spirit of pacifism and, facing the jeers and the threats of an angry mob, whose passion threatened his life, he denounced the Boer war in a hall in Birmingham the stronghold of Joseph Chamberlain the apostle of British imperialism.

At heart Lloyd George is still a democrat, and when he sees the arising of dictators in so many of the European states and witnesses the tragedies that are staining the modern history of Europe with the blood of men, sacrifices to the false god of nationalism, he knows the bitterness of one whose dreams have been shattered by the happenings of his time.

An opportunist he is said to be. And is that so great a fault? Is it not true that an opportunist is a man who reflects into himself the fickleness of those he leads? The statesman who leaps from point to point, from issue to issue, from remedy to remedy, is quick to sense the trend of popular opinion and to follow where it leads. Such responsiveness to public opinion is needed in a leader who went on as he went on when other leaders fell from their high places.

Once a democrat and during war years virtually a dictator; once a pacifist and, later, the greatest of the leaders of a nation in a world conflict, he must have changed and changed vastly. But the fact is that Lloyd George has not changed greatly. He is now what he was in earlier years, a democrat and a pacifist—a democrat who became an autocrat in an effort to save the Anglo-Saxon ideal of democracy from going down beneath the trend of German militarism—a pacifist who in an emergency fought strenuously, valiantly and victoriously for the purpose of peace.

"—and some blood." On his heart Lloyd George feels the burden of failure in Europe. Perhaps, he blames himself for his failure to march toward the highest when the people back home were calling for vengeance upon a vanquished foe. Perhaps, he feels that Versailles saw him fail in the moment of his success. But, however that may be, Lloyd George has been manly in admitting his mistakes in that conference and he is calling men back to sanity after years of insane reactions.

If there is yet left in him the ardor of youth, if his passion for right has not been dimmed by the years, if his prophetic voice has not lost its appeal and his heart has not been made insensitive to a world's suffering by his associations with men of war, he may yet lead his people to a loftier goal. And the fact that he sees the "blood" that has flowed as a result of the futility of Versailles suggests that the passion, the sympathy and the genius of prophecy are still his. But, and alas! when the prophet has failed to carry his prophetic vision into the conference hall, his power of appeal to the high principles, which he once forgot, is bereft of its former strength. He may not lead again, but if he is true to the promptings of that Welsh nature whose emotional sympathy relates him to those who suffer and are oppressed, he may be an abiding challenge to the leadership that is, and will be.

COMMUNITY SALES DAY

ALL that was expected of the October Community Sales day was realized. Crowds filled the streets, automobiles lined the pavements, farmers sought the city, dwellers in adjacent towns came to Brainerd to take advantage of the bargains offered by the local merchants, one person rejoiced after becoming the owner of a Ford touring car and others were happy when they carried off the other prizes offered in the contest.

Such an occasion cannot be measured by the amounts rung up on the cash registers of the merchants. Such a day results in extending the trade radius of Brainerd. Many came into the city whose purchases were light, but while here they concluded that the goods they have been purchasing elsewhere will be bought in Brainerd in the future. Brainerd was advertised, and advertising pays. Sometimes the fruits of advertising are not immediately seen but after many days they are in evidence.

Spasmodic efforts to advertise a city and the business houses of that city are not as valuable as consistent advertising carried on through a period of time. Business is not always attracted to a center by making one impression upon the prospective customer. One impression must be followed up by other impressions whose cumulative effect gets results. The great value of advertising is in its cumulative effect upon potential buyers.

Inasmuch as advertisers are impressed by the fact that has been mentioned, it is not necessary to emphasize it, and it can be confidently predicted that the merchants will continue their effort to attract business to Brainerd. The importance of Brainerd as a trading center depends upon the spirit and enterprise of Brainerd's merchants. People whose homes are located about half way between Brainerd and other towns will go to the town which makes the best bid for their trade. The dollars of others will be spent with catalogue houses unless the local merchants show that they are able to compete with such establishments. The evidence of this must be brought home to the people and it can be brought home to them most satisfactorily when the merchants cooperate in attracting business to the city and showing the incomers just what can be done to meet their needs at prices which are a challenge to the catalogue houses of larger cities.

The real value of the October Community Sales day will be observed by a continuity of effort directed to advertising this city and demonstrating that its business houses are qualified to meet the demands of the buyers whose business must be attracted if it is to be won.

ON EXTENSION OF EDUCATION

Editor of the Dispatch.

It seems fitting and proper, now that the day-school pupils are well launched on another year of educational effort, to give some thought to the boys and girls of the older generation who still want to go to school. That there are such, was evidenced last year, when two classes in Public Speaking, formed under the Extension Division of the University of Minnesota, were organized and conducted successfully for two semesters. If the members of these classes could be interviewed, there is no doubt but that they would testify to the value of the instruction received.

It has been brought to my attention that there are a considerable number of Brainerd people who would like to have classes formed again, now that the more purposeful winter days are approaching. There seems to be no one who has the time to take the matter in hand. It was the hope of those who were instrumental in getting the University Extension classes started last year, that they would be continued this year. If too late to take action? Surely there must be a way to provide instruction for those who hunger and thirst for knowledge.

Would it be possible to have night schools in Brainerd, two or three times a week, arranged for by the school authorities? It is possible, if the tax payers say so. Every effort for self-education on the part of the adult population should be encouraged, and the conditions for learning made as easy as possible.

Is Americanization only for the immigrant? I do not think so. We Americans ourselves need to be more fully Americanized, which means more fully educated, if it means anything. The individual who is dissatisfied with what he knows, and who seeks to extend his mental horizon by the acquisition of useful knowledge, is Americanizing himself. Is approaching that ideal of perfection in character and intelligence characterized as a "100% American." The fallacy that people are through with their education when they leave school, seems to have taken deep root in the American consciousness. Otherwise, how could we be classed as a "sixth-grade" nation? Does it look as though the idea of continued education had been thoroughly "sold" to the boys and girls of the last generation?

But to go back to our problem. Shall last year's effort die out? Will not the Rotary club, which has an avowed interest in education, and other social agencies, take the matter under consideration? If classes can be formed, should the problem of securing an instructor be difficult? There is a distinct advantage in being a member of a class. One is compelled to make the sustained effort which seems so difficult when working alone. It is good news, however, to learn that any individual may now take an extension course by correspondence in the subjects desired, under competent instructors at the University of Minnesota. "Where there's a will, there's a way."

A SHADOW ON A GREAT MAN'S FACE

WHILE Lloyd George was in Minneapolis he was surrounded by newspaper writers who asked him many questions and put forward many suggestions. One of these was: "Much water has gone over the mill since you last met Mr. Wilson." The great war-premier of Britain sighed. "Yes," he said, "much water—and some blood."

"Much water—and some blood." Time has been marching on and on time's battle ground men have gone down to death in blood after the conclusion of a war that promised to make the world safe for democracy. One who has followed the chequered history of Lloyd George will not fail to appreciate the significance of that sigh. He was a democrat. Time was when he was hated by the conservative elements of British society more bitterly than the leaders of the labor party in parliament are hated today. Once he was the incarnation of the spirit of pacifism and, facing the jeers and the threats of an angry mob, whose passion threatened his life, he denounced the Boer war in a hall in Birmingham the stronghold of Joseph Chamberlain the apostle of British imperialism.

At heart Lloyd George is still a democrat, and when he sees the arising of dictators in so many of the European states and witnesses the tragedies that are staining the modern history of Europe with the blood of men, sacrifices to the false god of nationalism, he knows the bitterness of one whose dreams have been shattered by the happenings of his time.

An opportunist he is said to be. And is that so great a fault? Is it not true that an opportunist is a man who reflects into himself the fickleness of those he leads? The statesman who leaps from point to point, from issue to issue, from remedy to remedy, is quick to sense the trend of popular opinion and to follow where it leads. Such responsiveness to public opinion is needed in a leader who went on as he went on when other leaders fell from their high places.

Once a democrat and during war years virtually a dictator; once a pacifist and, later, the greatest of the leaders of a nation in a world conflict, he must have changed and changed vastly. But the fact is that Lloyd George has not changed greatly. He is now what he was in earlier years, a democrat and a pacifist—a democrat who became an autocrat in an effort to save the Anglo-Saxon ideal of democracy from going down beneath the trend of German militarism—a pacifist who in an emergency fought strenuously, valiantly and victoriously for the purpose of peace.

POULTRY MEN MET AT COURT HOUSE

Crow Wing County Poultry Association Makes Plans for Annual Show

TO BE HELD ON DEC. 5 AND 6

This Will be the Third Annual Exhibition Staged, Each More Successful Than Predecessor

The directors of the Crow Wing County Poultry Association met on Sunday afternoon in the farmers' room at the court house.

Plans were made for the annual poultry show, which will be held this year on Wednesday and Thursday, December 5th and 6th.

This is the third annual exhibition that the association has staged, each one being more successful than its predecessor and creating more interest in the poultry industry.

Crow Wing county now boasts a number of excellent full-blooded laying strains, the white Leghorn breed predominating, and it is expected that a fine array of birds will be on exhibition at the annual show.

Steps were taken last year to make this show more than merely a local affair. It was the idea of the association to have it include all of central Minnesota, giving breeders in this section of the state an opportunity to become more closely affiliated, and to perfect their strains and strengthen the industry generally.

There will be another meeting of the association on next Sunday, October 21st in the farmers' room at the court house, at 2:30. It is hoped that a large number will turn out, not only actual members of the association, but all who are interested in the success of the poultry show.

Seventh prize was won by Pete Goedderz of Brainerd, who caught a 5 and 1-4 lb. bass in Lake Edwards and won a South Bend bassoreno.

Eighth prize went to W. F. Schemendelman, Long Lake being the scene of his exploit in catching a 5 lb. bass which gained him a South Bend bassoreno.

Ninth prize was won by Mrs. Cobb of Brainerd who caught a 4 1-4 lb. bass in Cullen lake and whose prize was a Teelan bait by the Enterprise Co.

There were 27 other entries. All will receive baits and lures of different makes and kinds. All these 27 entries weighed under four pounds.

Next year the Perry Hardware Co. intends to give prizes on every kind of fish caught in our lake region. The highest prize next year on bass is to be a $35 jeweled reel. Those that entered bass this season numbered 36. The Perry Hardware Company asks these designated to call for their prizes.

POULTRY MEN MET AT COURT HOUSE

Crow Wing County Poultry Association Makes Plans for Annual Show

TO BE HELD ON DEC. 5 AND 6

This Will be the Third Annual Exhibition Staged, Each More Successful Than Predecessor

The directors of the Crow Wing County Poultry Association met on Sunday afternoon in the farmers room at the court house.

Plans were made for the annual poultry show, which will be held this year on Wednesday and Thursday, December 5th and 6th.

This is the third annual exhibition that the association has staged, each one being more successful than its predecessor and creating more interest in the poultry industry.

Crow Wing county now boasts a number of excellent full-blooded laying strains, the white Leghorn breed predominating, and it is expected that a fine array of birds will be on exhibition at the annual show.

Steps were taken last year to make this show more than merely a local affair. It was the idea of the association to have it include all of central Minnesota, giving breeders in this section of the state an opportunity to become more closely affiliated, and to perfect their strains and strengthen the industry generally.

There will be another meeting of the association on next Sunday, October 21st in the farmers room at the court house, at 2:30. It is hoped that a large number will turn out, not only actual members of the association, but all who are interested in the success of the poultry show.

MAJOR LEAGUE RACES TRUE TO FORM

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 17.—With very few exceptions the major league pennant races ran almost true to form and they followed unusually close upon the predictions made before the season started.

The Giants and the Yankees were chosen almost unanimously to repeat, and if there was any surprise in their trip to their third straight championships, it was in the rather narrow escape of the Giants.

Before the season started most of the experts thought that the Giants would walk in and that the Yankees would have a real fight. But it turned out that the Yankees had the clinch race and the Giants had a terrific fight all the way.

Cleveland was a big surprise in the American League race, Washington showed unexpected form and the White Sox were the big bust of the year. Before the season started few believed that Tris Speaker would fill a lot of holes in his club and make a contender out of the team, and although he was beaten out for second place by the Detroit Tigers, he did well in finishing where he did.

Detroit was generally picked to finish second, and many experts thought that Ty Cobb would carry a fight to the Yankees, but he failed to get the expected pitching and it was only with a last minute dash that he succeeded in winning second place money.

Without George Sisler, the St. Louis Browns did as well as could be expected and it was no surprise that they were beaten out by Washington, as everyone expected that Donie Bush would do something with the Senators, if Clarke Griffith let him have his own way. The nice comeback pulled by Roger Peckinpaugh and the steady pitching of Walter Johnson helped to rejuvenate the club.

Urban Faber's bust with the White Sox and the failure of some of the younger pitchers to reach the expected form caused Kid Gleason a very bad season. The Athletics did well for a time, but, as John McGraw said, the team was too young to get any place this season.

Frank Chance did as well as could be expected with what the Boston Red Sox gave him and it is doubtful, since he has been relieved of the management, that his successor will do much better next year.

In the opinion of McGraw, the surprise of the National League race came when the Cincinnati Reds beat out the Pittsburgh Pirates for second place. Many critics, however, thought that the Reds would give the Giants a great fight, but McGraw thought more of the Pirates because of their great punch. The Cubs did nicely in landing in the first division, but it was no surprise. Bill Killefer is building slowly and well and he is going to get some place without spending a million dollars for a team.

WHEN BUSH WAS WALKED IN 8TH

There is a deal of comment on the memorable eighth inning of the last game of the world's series when Miller Huggins switched the batting order and sent in a flock of substitutes.

Charles A. Lovett writes:

Artie Hoffman's assignment to hit for Pennock, since the Yankees were three runs behind, was entirely logical. But the signaling of a pitcher from the bullpen, where he had been warming up for possible relief duty, to hit for a leadoff man was unprecedented in world series annals, and yet not a writer can fail to agree Huggins made his wisest move of the entire series in calling in Bush to hit for Witt, who, in 16 innings, had failed to solve Nehf's delivery.

The psychology of Huggins' nomination of Hoffman and Bush, too, was important and played its part in the ultimate result. If Hoffman was dangerous against a southpaw, Bush was even more so, and the passing of this pair was perhaps just as well, from the Giant viewpoint, for both are long distance hitters of parts.

James Crusinberry writes: The Yankees aren't supposed to have any master minds or any who are strategic and it was clear that here was occasion to do something smart. Boss Huggins, coaxed Old Man Strategy to his aid. He sent Joe Bush to hit for Whitey Witt, the latter being a left handed hitter who hadn't done much with Nehf's artistic southpaw stuff. No pinch hitter ever gave a prettier exhibition of pinch hitting than did Bush and he never took the bat off his shoulders. Might just as well have left it in the bag. Nehf could not make him swing and could not get his curves over, so Bush also walked, forcing Schang to score.

Christy Mathewson wrote: Bush, pinch hitting for Pennock, didn't have to lift his bat off his shoulder. Four straight balls sent him along and then Nehf failed to locate the plate on four more to Hoffmann's swing for Witt. Exit Nehf! He was the last of the Giant pitchers to leave the box as the result of a Yankee attack. Nobody's taking any credit away from the Yankees for the great game they put up to win a world's championship, but always remember that McGraw was in the toughest spot in the world.

FOURTH GAME AGAIN POSTPONED BECAUSE OF WET GROUNDS

(By United Press)
Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—The fourth game of the Junior World's Series between Baltimore and Kansas City was again postponed today on account of wet grounds.

YANKS REJOICE IN THEIR VICTORY

New York, Oct. 17.—The shouting and cheering that went on in the Yankees' clubhouse, at the Polo grounds, after they had won the world's championship, seemed to rival the shouting of the multitude outside. The new holder's of baseball's highest honors galloped off the field and into their dressing rooms in high glee, thrilled at the conquest they had just completed.

Big Babe Ruth was the first to grab Bob Meusel, the long, lanky player, who had driven out a smashing single with three men on bases, sending enough runners across the plate to win the game. Ruth threw his arms around the hero of the day and hugged him, shouting in his ear all the time.

Huggins was the next member of the champions to receive the attention of the players. They seized the little manager's hand and wrung it until Huggins winced. It was a joyous occasion, one for which the Yanks had been striving for three seasons, and they celebrated with a pent emotion that had been growing year by year in their hearts.

Finally Joe Bush and Babe Ruth jumped on the rubbing table and above the babble of voices raised their own, calling the players to gather around. Then Ruth, embarrassed and bashful, but happy and laughing with the rest, took a diamond ring from a jeweler's case and held it up.

"Boy," he said, "we've won the world's championship and we owe a lot for the accomplishment to the guiding hand of Mr. Huggins. He has done a fine job this year in managing the team, and," turning to the midjet manager who stood blushing beneath his weather-beaten tan, "we want to present you with this ring in token of the esteem in which we hold you."

At first Huggins was literally speechless. It was several seconds before he finally raised his head. There was a sob in his voice and the hint of a tear in his eye when he spoke.

"Fellows," he began, "it is a fine thing to win the American league pennant. It is still finer to go and win the World's championship, but this ring which you have given me has brought to me more real happiness than either of the victories we have won on the diamond. It is the association with such players as you, players who go on fighting in the face of odds and never give up, that brings the most happiness."

"Three cheers for Huggins!" the cry went up and the cheers echoed and re-echoed across the room as the players again started their wild capers of victory.

Then the closely guarded door opened again and a tired looking man with gray hair made his way through the cheering throng. Straight he went to Miller Huggins and grabbing the manager of the champions by the hand, he said:

"That's a great ball team you have and I want to add my congratulations to all of those you have already received. You beat us fair and square when we were doing the best we could all the time."

Turning to the players he added: "Good luck to all of you," and then he made his way out of the room.

It was John McGraw, who had just seen his fondest ambition—to win three successive world championships—blasted.

A Hundred Per Cent Comedy
If reviewers are inclined to grow old and crabbed, it is not the fault of pictures like "Are You a Failure?" the Tom Forman Preferred Picture, now playing at the New Park Theatre.

There is no outstanding star, but the honors of the picture easily go to Madge Bellamy, as the daughter of the lumber king, Lloyd Hughes, as the pampered ward of two all-too-dotting aunts, and Tom Santschi, who plays Killdevil, the river-front bully.

Adam and Eva

Said to be one of the most delightful pictures in which Marion Davies, beautiful Cosmopolitan star in Paramount pictures, has ever appeared is "Adam and Eva," which comes to the Lyceum Theatre tonight for two days. Its scenes range from the fashionable home of a capitalist, to a farm where much of the action finally develops.

"Adam and Eva," adapted for the screen from the famous stage comedy by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, was directed by Robert G. Vignola, creator of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," also starring Miss Davies. In support of Miss Davies is an excellent cast, including such well known players as T. Roy Barnes, Tom Lewis, William Norris, Percy Ames, Leon Gordon, Luella Gear, William Davidson, and Edward Douglas.

The Musical Osbornes at the Lyceum

In addition to the big Paramount feature, "Adam and Eva," starring Marion Davies, the Lyceum is presenting tonight and Thursday "The Musical Osbornes," a very clever little family troupe of four people, who will appear in person at all evening performances.

MAJOR LEAGUE RACES TRUE TO FORM

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 17.—With very few exceptions the major league pennant races ran almost true to form and they followed unusually close upon the predictions made before the season started.

The Giants and the Yankees were chosen almost unanimously to repeat, and if there was any surprise in their trip to their third straight championships, it was in the rather narrow escape of the Giants.

Before the season started most of the experts thought that the Giants would walk in and that the Yankees would have a real fight. But it turned out that the Yankees had the cinch race and the Giants had a terrific fight all the way.

Cleveland was a big surprise in the American League race, Washington showed unexpected form and the White Sox were the big bust of the year. Before the season started few believed that Tris Speaker would fill a lot of holes in his club and make a contender out of the team, and although he was beaten out for second place by the Detroit Tigers, he did well in finishing where he did.

Detroit was generally picked to finish second, and many experts thought that Ty Cobb would carry a fight to the Yankees, but he failed to get the expected pitching and it was only with a last minute dash that he succeeded in winning second place money.

Without George Sisler, the St. Louis Browns did as well as could be expected and it was no surprise that they were beaten out by Washington, as everyone expected that Donie Bush would do something with the Senators, if Clarke Griffith let him have his own way. The nice comeback pulled by Roger Peckinpaugh and the steady pitching of Walter Johnson helped to rejuvenate the club.

Urban Faber's bust with the White Sox and the failure of some of the younger pitchers to reach the expected form caused Kid Gleason a very bad season. The Athletics did well for a time, but, as John McGraw said, the team was too young to get any place this season.

Frank Chance did as well as could be expected with what the Boston Red Sox gave him and it is doubtful, since he has been relieved of the management, that his successor will do much better next year.

In the opinion of McGraw, the surprise of the National League race came when the Cincinnati Reds beat out the Pittsburgh Pirates for second place. Many critics, however, thought that the Reds would give the Giants a great fight, but McGraw thought more of the Pirates because of their great punch.

The Cubs did nicely in landing in the first division, but it was no surprise. Bill Killifer is building slowly and well and he is going to get some place without spending a million dollars for a team.

WHEN BUSH WAS WALKED IN 8TH

There is a deal of comment on the memorable eighth inning of the last game of the world's series when Miller Huggins switched the batting order and sent in a flock of substitutes.

Charles A. Lovett writes:

Artie Hoffman's assignment to hit for Pennock, since the Yankees were three runs behind, was entirely logical. But the signaling of a pitcher from the bullpen, where he had been warming up for possible relief duty, to hit for a leadoff man was unprecedented in world series annals, and yet not a writer can fail to agree Huggins made his wisest move of the entire series in calling in Bush to hit for Witt, who, in 16 innings, had failed to solve Nehf's delivery.

The psychology of Huggins' nomination of Hoffman and Bush, too, was important and played its part in the ultimate result. If Hoffman was dangerous against a southpaw, Bush was even more so, and the passing of this pair was perhaps just as well, from the Giant viewpoint, for both are long distance hitters of parts.

James Crunsberry writes: The Yankees aren't supposed to have any master minds or any who are strategic and it was clear that here was occasion to do something smart. Boss Huggins coaxed Old Man Strategy to his aid. He sent Joe Bush to hit for Whitey Witt, the latter being a left handed batter who hadn't done much with Nehf's artistic southpaw stuff.

No pinch hitter ever gave a prettier exhibition of pinch hitting than did Bush and he never took the bat off his shoulders. Might just as well have left it in the bag. Nehf could not make him swing and could not get his curves over, so Bush also walked, forcing Schang to score.

Christy Mathewson wrote: Bush, pinch hitting for Pennock, didn't have to lift his bat off his shoulder. Four straight balls sent him along and then Nehf failed to locate the plate on four more to Hoffman's swing for Witt. Exit Nehf! He was the last of the Giant pitchers to leave the box as the result of a Yankee attack. Nobody's taking any credit away from the Yankees for the great game they put up to win a world's championship, but always remember that McGraw was in the toughest spot in the world.

FOURTH GAME AGAIN POSTPONED BECAUSE OF WET GROUNDS

(By United Press)
Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17. — The fourth game of the Junior World's Series between Baltimore and Kansas City was again postponed today on account of wet grounds.

YANKS REJOICE IN THEIR VICTORY

New York, Oct. 17.—The shouting and cheering that went on in the Yankees' clubhouse, at the Polo grounds, after they had won the world's championship, seemed to rival the shouting of the multitude outside. The new holder's of baseball's highest honors galloped off the field and into their dressing rooms in high glee, thrilled at the conquest they had just completed.

Big Babe Ruth was the first to grab Bob Meusel, the long, lanky player, who had driven out a smashing single with three men on bases, sending enough runners across the plate to win the game. Ruth threw his arms around the hero of the day and hugged him, shouting in his ear all the time.

Huggins was the next member of the champions to receive the attention of the players. They seized the little manager's hand and wrung it until Huggins winced. It was a joyous occasion, one for which the Yanks had been striving for three seasons, and they celebrated with a pent emotion that had been growing year by year in their hearts.

Finally Joe Bush and Babe Ruth jumped on the rubbing table and above the babble of voices raised their own, calling the players to gather around. Then Ruth, embarrassed and bashful, but happy and laughing with the rest, took a diamond ring from a jeweler's case and held it up.

"Boy," he said, "we've won the world's championship and we owe a lot for the accomplishment to the guiding hand of Mr. Huggins. He has done a fine job this year in managing the team, and," turning to the midget manager who stood blushing beneath his weather-beaten tan, "we want to present you with this ring in token of the esteem in which we hold you."

At first Huggins was literally speechless. It was several seconds before he finally raised his head. There was a sob in his voice and the hint of a tear in his eye when he spoke.

"Fellows," he began, "it is a fine thing to win the American league pennant. It is still finer to go and win the World's championship, but this ring which you have given me has brought to me more real happiness than either of the victories we have won on the diamond. It is the association with such players as you, players who go on fighting in the face of odds and never give up, that brings the most happiness."

"Three cheers for Huggins!" the cry went up and the cheers echoed and re-echoed across the room as the players again started their wild capers of victory.

Then the closely guarded door opened again and a tired looking man with gray hair made his way through the cheering throng. Straight he went to Miller Huggins and grabbing the manager of the champions by the hand, he said:

"That's a great ball team you have and I want to add my congratulations to all of those you have already received. You beat us fair and square when we were doing the best we could all the time."

Turning to the players he added: "Good luck to all of you," and then he made his way out of the room.

It was John McGraw, who had just seen his fondest ambition — to win three successive world championships — blasted.

A Hundred Per Cent Comedy

If reviewers are inclined to grow old and crabbed, it is not the fault of pictures like "Are You a Failure?" the Tom Forman Preferred Picture, now playing at the New Park Theatre.

There is no outstanding star, but the honors of the picture easily go to Madge Bellamy, as the daughter of the lumber king, Lloyd Hughes, as the pampered ward of two all-toodoting aunts, and Tom Santschi, who plays Killdevil, the river-front bully.

Adam and Eva

Said to be one of the most delightful pictures in which Marion Davies, beautiful Cosmopolitan star in Paramount pictures, has ever appeared is "Adam and Eva," which comes to the Lyceum Theatre tonight for two days. Its scenes range from the fashionable home of a capitalist, to a farm where much of the action finally develops.

"Adam and Eva," adapted for the screen from the famous stage comedy by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, was directed by Robert G. Vignola, creator of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," also starring Miss Davies. In support of Miss Davies is an excellent cast, including such well known players as T. Roy Barnes, Tom Lewis, William Norris, Percy Ames, Leon Gordon, Luella Gear, William Davidson, and Edward Douglas.

The Musical Osbornes at the Lyceum

In addition to the big Paramount feature, "Adam and Eva," starring Marion Davies, the Lyceum is presenting tonight and Thursday "The Musical Osbornes," a very clever little family troupe of four people, who will appear in person at all evening performances.
